1	The membership and therefore the operation and Aims of ACES are focused on the Estate Manager with each authority. I believe there would be significant benefits if the focus of ACES were to directed to public authority estates surveyors more generally	10/24/2017 12:36 PM
2	I hve been out of the profession for over 20 years. It is interesting to note th t whar goes around around comes around. The Civil Service stil seem to plan in20 year cycles and RICS have at lasr adopted the American system of valuation.	10/23/2017 11:32 PM
3	May be useful to consider drafting good practice guidance as part of the role.	10/23/2017 4:23 PM
4	Some of these objectives will mirror those of the RICS	10/23/2017 9:23 AM
5	ACES is an extremely valuable tool, in driving forward good property management - however it needs to 'be more relevant' and accept that the face of surveying has changed (i.e. less RICS, more generalist, more private sector)	10/23/2017 9:00 AM
6	Some of the excellent Terrier articles could be put into the RICS magazine and the Estates Gazette.	10/17/2017 2:29 PM
7	I think in terms of d) this is the job of our Professional body the RICS who need to be encouraged to represent the public image of the Public Sector surveyor.	10/13/2017 3:55 PM
8	ACES does not seen to be in a position to be the first call for advice to government etc	10/12/2017 3:02 PM
9	I am unsighted as to how evenly this is being undertaken across all the Branches in the UK. Branches underperforming may have a long journey to recruit new members and organise better meetings before they are ready to be "developed" further	10/11/2017 4:43 PM
10	We can only fulfil these roles if ACES has a broad-ranging membership, including specialists. I am not convinced that with present membership criteria, ACES can effectively do this (especially (b)	10/11/2017 9:39 AM
11	None	10/10/2017 10:59 PM
12	It is the role of ACES and it's members to improve the image of the profession with elected members, employers and the executive of their various organisations. Only by doing so will the public be best served	10/10/2017 8:01 PM
13	d is RICS remit ?	10/10/2017 11:11 AM

14	RICS is the appropriate body for property advice and image of profession. ACES should not try and duplicate this. ACES is about sharing good practice etc in the Public Sector.	10/10/2017 10:52 AM
15	I do wonder if the existence of ACES is really known about, outside of its own membership.	10/10/2017 10:46 AM
16	"Improve the public image of the profession" a bit more clarity about what is meant by "profession" might be helpful - it needs to be clearly focussed on public sector property not surveying in general	10/10/2017 9:53 AM
17	Whilst I broadly agree that the objectives I suggest that other organisations such as RICS and CIPFA are better at delivering them. Further I believe that the image of the profession is a matter for RICS	10/10/2017 9:36 AM
18	I am neutral about (a) because this ought to be in the interests of underpinning and supporting front line services for the community and public. We need to make this the key outcome, as it is tangible! Intangibles are important, but they do not strike a real chord with the public and community.	10/10/2017 9:11 AM
19	point d) should be enhanced to promote the role and value of Surveyors in the public sector which the RICS manifestly fail to do	10/10/2017 9:05 AM
20	It is not clear what is meant by "profession" e.g. Surveyor, Estates Surveyor, Public Sector Surveyor etc. To my mind the other aims are more important. The RICS should be allowed to cover the promotion role.	10/10/2017 9:04 AM
21	None	10/10/2017 9:01 AM

Q4 What changes, if any, do you consider should be made to these ACES objectives (in Q3) to reflect the way services are and will be delivered in the future?

Answered: 95 Skipped: 42

#	RESPONSES	DATE
1	More national (or international) than regional focus	10/26/2017 3:40 PM
2	Increase ACES profile within public service. Too often property is not represented at a high enough level within organisations. This is despite property being involved in virtually all activities. Property being a "factor of production".	10/26/2017 2:42 PM
3	Need to raise profile amongst profession still not utilised and old fashioned in the way it promotes itself. Web pages and forum are clunky etc need to be more dynamic to enable more members to utilise it better and due to work loads people cannot make local meetings etc so you are working within limited audience needs to be wider	10/25/2017 5:07 PM
4	More open and transparent sharing of best practice case studies, more structured and detailed CPD events looking at innovation and best practice, learning from the private sector	10/24/2017 4:02 PM
5	this is a very wide question - the existing objectives are a bit dull - so many LAs are spending a lot of money on private consultants, should there not be something about VFM- procurement processes, investment. Basically the objectives tell you very little	10/24/2017 4:02 PM
6	Add - represent and support all estates surveyors and valuers in the public sector	10/24/2017 12:36 PM
7	Further widening of membership should be resisted, however our political masters do not like strong Officers so change is probably inevitable!	10/24/2017 8:42 AM
8	Consider the impact of "digital working" - remote conferencing/co working etc.	10/24/2017 7:42 AM
9	Wouldnt dream of commenting. Might say something contraversial.	10/23/2017 11:32 PM
10	Producing good practice guidance on own and with other representative bodies	10/23/2017 4:23 PM
11	There should be an emphasis on campaigning to influence policies impacting on asset management	10/23/2017 1:58 PM
12	We could offer interim support services to authorities	10/23/2017 12:43 PM
13	None	10/23/2017 11:18 AM
14	Improve and increase visibility and profile. Issue press releases, statements on relevant matters, get quoted in media, send open letters to RICS and publish them. Use social networking more.	10/23/2017 10:15 AM
15	Ensure that members are Chief Estates Surveyors and Heads of Departments. Membership has become too diluted by influence of those aligned to the private sector and general officers particularly those outwith the surveying profession or being responsible for surveying who simply see ACES as something to add to the CV and contribute nothing.	10/23/2017 9:37 AM
16	These are core aims and should remain.	10/23/2017 9:33 AM
17	No comment	10/23/2017 9:26 AM
18	None	10/23/2017 9:24 AM
19	These objectives need to be more closely aligned with those of the Authorities we are employed by and the obligations and constraints imposed upon them.	10/23/2017 9:23 AM
20	Need a business plan with annual objectives for delivery. As part of this actions to achieve the ACES objectives could be scoped and targeted.	10/23/2017 9:13 AM
21	Consider make-up of the organisation	10/23/2017 9:00 AM
22	To encourage and promote working in the public sector to the younger generation and those coming through their education in property.	10/23/2017 8:59 AM

23	None	10/23/2017 8:58 AM
24	Raise the Profile of ACES with the private sector	10/23/2017 8:55 AM
25	Something about CPD	10/23/2017 8:55 AM
26	.	10/23/2017 8:54 AM
27	Emphasise the various CPD events organised by the branches to help discriminate knowledge	10/17/2017 2:29 PM
28	No mention of ethics & governance, use of public assets for public/social good or environment/sustainability	10/13/2017 5:01 PM
29	ACES (or its retitled successor) needs to be the representative body of all professional surveyors working for ALL public bodies.	10/13/2017 3:55 PM
30	none	10/13/2017 11:38 AM
31	None	10/12/2017 5:26 PM
32	It needs to make sure it does not duplicate the role of organisations such as RICS but become more closely integrated within RICS	10/12/2017 3:02 PM
33	To offer reasonably priced training and learning opportunities. Also, possibly something to make it more relevant to the wider public sector, to encourage a wider membership.	10/12/2017 1:23 PM
34	I consider that the RICS doesn't fully understand the role of the estates surveyor within the public sector and therefore I consider that ACES needs to promote this more	10/12/2017 12:20 PM
35	No comment	10/12/2017 11:11 AM
36	None	10/12/2017 7:11 AM
37	Objective a) will always be a work in progress. There is staff turnover at all levels and neverending organisational change to consider. How do you know if you have succeeded? Can you ever cease to have a focus on this - doubtful! Objective b) also sheds light on the very fact that we have folk engaged on undertaking good estate management work. Such has been the changing priorities in central government, and the rapid turnover of cg staff, that efforts must always be required to be seen as a first place for essential comments and opinions. Other organisations will show little hesitation in commenting upon things where they have no knowledge. Objective c) seems to be the bread and butter for the organisation. Leeds CC decided to continue membership of Aces after I left it because they very much valued the nature, range and quality of the NE Branch's CPD and the opportunity to network with members of other public bodies, and to receive information on things they couldn't get from elsewhere. Objective d) is best achieved by being "visible" and available and by being able to speak about the good things the members are achieving. We should be proud of what we do and the ethical manner in which we operate.	10/11/2017 4:43 PM
38	It is also a means of providing focused, relevant CPD for members on public sector relevant issues	10/11/2017 4:10 PM
39	I would leave alone, subject to more interface with the private sector.	10/11/2017 1:58 PM
40	I think that reflecting that the provision of services and advice has changed to involve more private sector companies is important to reflect upon	10/11/2017 1:36 PM
41	No comment	10/11/2017 1:21 PM
42	- make them more 'snappy' and memorable. - promote a modern image of ACES.	10/11/2017 11:28 AM
43	Happy with the objectives, but not with the membership criteria	10/11/2017 9:39 AM
44	None	10/10/2017 11:32 PM
45	None	10/10/2017 10:59 PM
46	no changes required	10/10/2017 10:13 PM
47	No changes	10/10/2017 9:30 PM
48	The wording of objective (b) possibly needs some refreshing/clarification, eg first call by whom? make recommendations to whom?	10/10/2017 8:07 PM
49	I believe my comments to the previous question address this issue	10/10/2017 8:01 PM
50	No change needed	10/10/2017 7:38 PM
51	n/a	10/10/2017 5:54 PM

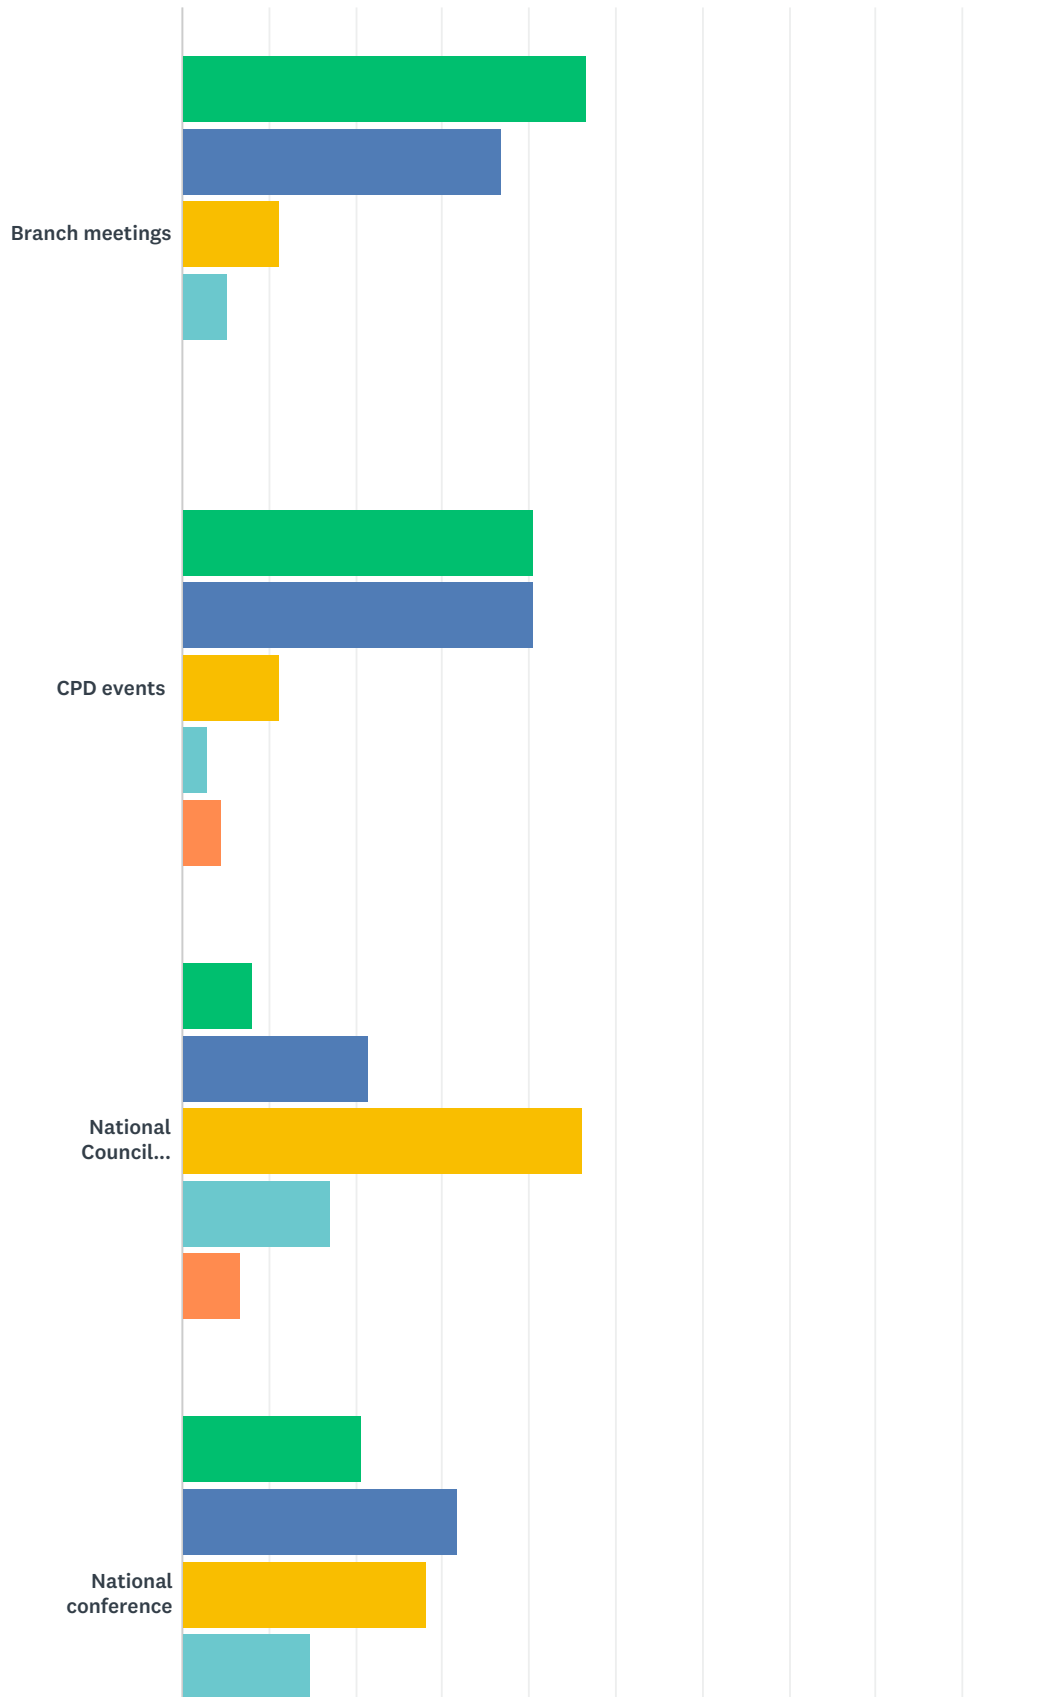

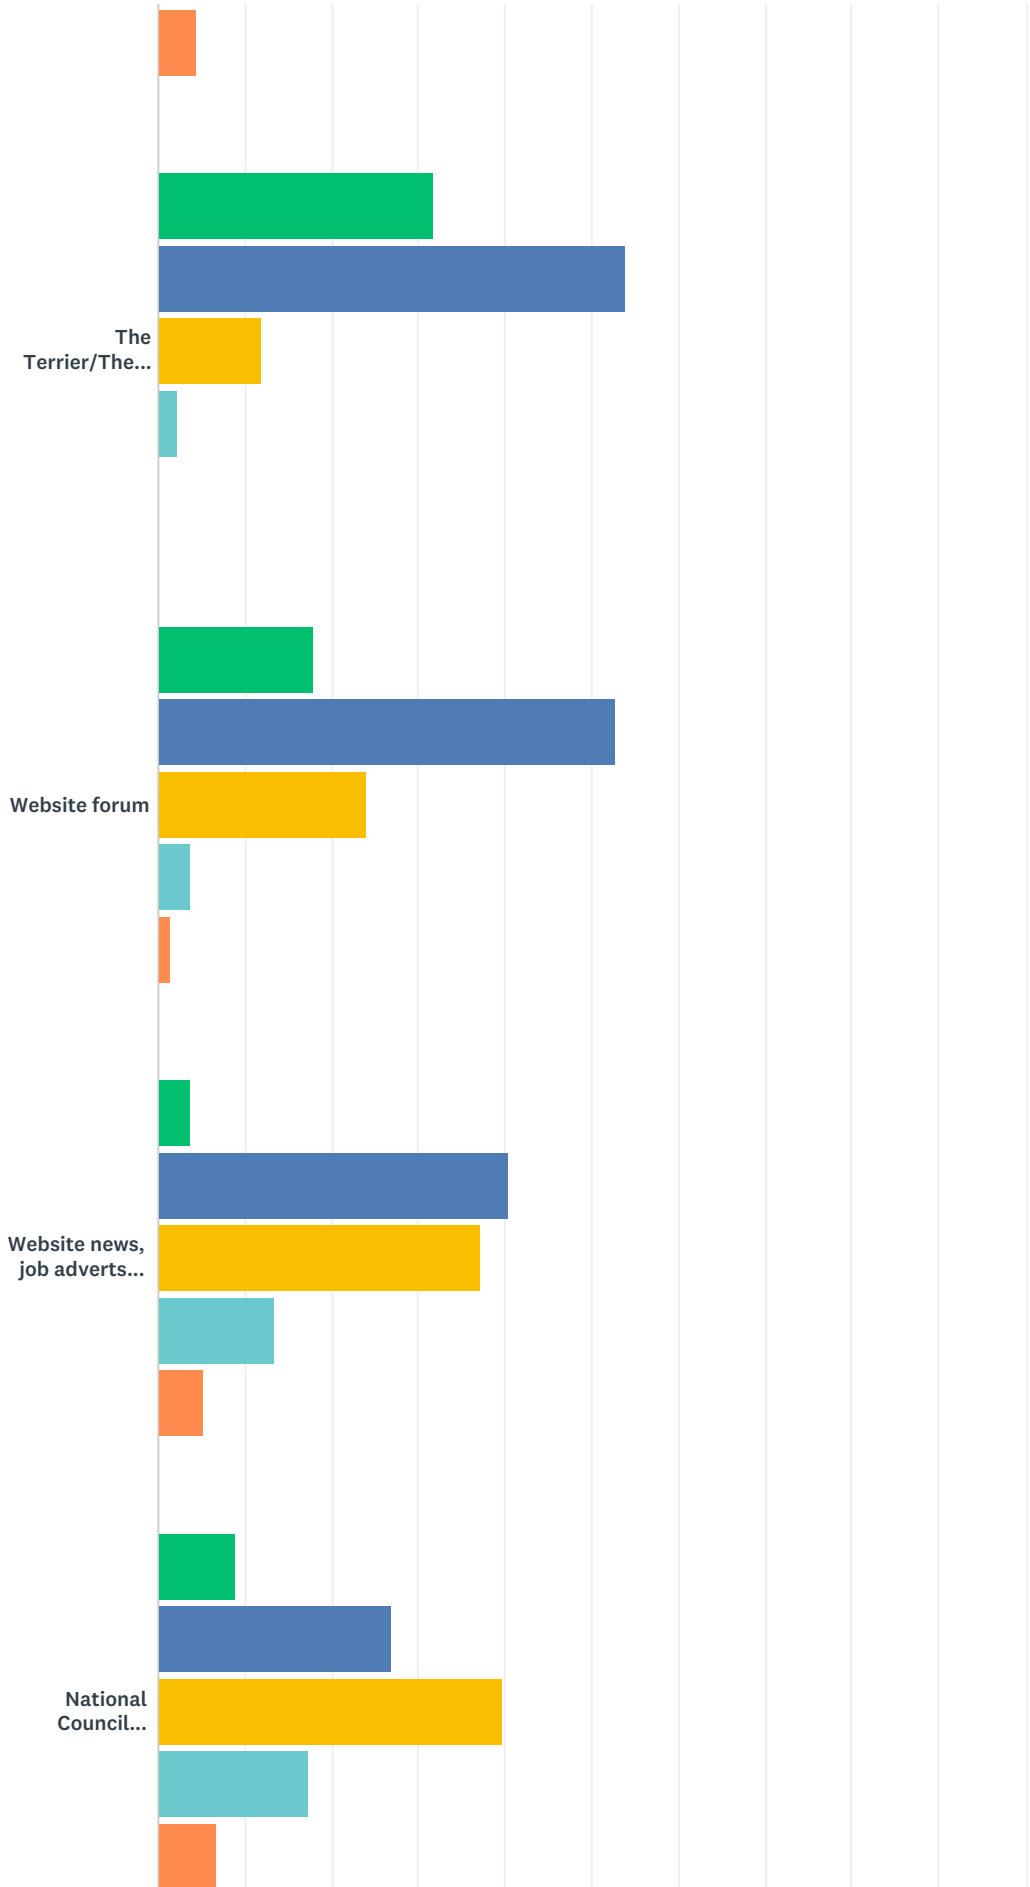

52	none	10/10/2017 5:29 PM
53	Update our image and profiles	10/10/2017 5:22 PM
54	Also cater for the wider public sector professional not just the leaders - perhaps a second conference aimed that this	10/10/2017 4:43 PM
55	Wider membership to reflect changing structures of LG property teams	10/10/2017 4:15 PM
56	More focus should be on developing a future facing approach that identifies opportunities and changing skill sets and operating models	10/10/2017 3:12 PM
57	Carry on as we are. No need to change.	10/10/2017 3:09 PM
58	RICS has become more international in their approach, ACES has the members and experience to lead nationally on important property matters.	10/10/2017 2:47 PM
59	None	10/10/2017 2:31 PM
60	None	10/10/2017 1:47 PM
61	I feel that in recent years there has been a reduction in influence with HM Treasury, the RICS and the Audit Commission. Our Conference used to count the RICS President amongst attendees. ACES should put more effort into this.	10/10/2017 1:46 PM
62	be more inclusive across the wider public sector and also to a wider audience within those organisations. as an organisation it is still very local authority focused	10/10/2017 1:18 PM
63	More emphasis on the identification, assessment and dissemination of effective practice More opportunity for structured problem solving	10/10/2017 12:14 PM
64	Greater Focus on wider Public Sector membership and linkages at a senior government level	10/10/2017 12:10 PM
65	None	10/10/2017 12:04 PM
66	To enable outsourced estate surveyors to continue to contribute to the objectives.	10/10/2017 11:33 AM
67	Bring in surveyors working for infrastructure companies /utilities as these provide public services	10/10/2017 11:21 AM
68	To recognise the increasing commercial focus on property. ie local authority investment estates, plus service within the public sector provided for a fee rather than by in house surveyors. Perhaps ACES could raise its profile by implementing some bench marking criteria? or implementing a framework for surveyor services?	10/10/2017 11:20 AM
69	Broadening with public sector land holders to encourage shared use/efficiencies, a bit like the One Public Estate approach could be beneficial. Stronger links with Gov departments to help with joining up initiatives which can sometimes result in conflict/hamper progress. Also to ensure data requirements are aligned/universal	10/10/2017 11:20 AM
70	Perhaps, linked to a), there could be an objective around promoting good estate management practice to elected Members> Property benefits from Member champions.	10/10/2017 11:11 AM
71	The name of the organisation is not good. "Chief Estates Surveyors" is old fashioned and not reflected in what we do.	10/10/2017 11:05 AM
72	At least remove objective B	10/10/2017 10:52 AM
73	I think these are the appropriate objectives to concentrate on.	10/10/2017 10:46 AM
74	none	10/10/2017 10:26 AM
75	No obvious changes required.	10/10/2017 10:24 AM
76	No changes	10/10/2017 10:21 AM
77	I think ACES should represent all surveyors and estate managers engaged wholly or substantially in the management of the public sector estate whether employed in-house or by the private sector providing contracted services.	10/10/2017 10:19 AM
78	see above	10/10/2017 9:53 AM
79	There should be a greater recognition of collaboration between organisations	10/10/2017 9:53 AM
80	The One Estate Agenda means more private sector surveyors are and will become more involved in the future. I believe Private sector surveyors should be participating in 50% plus public sector work to be members of ACES or any subsequent re-naming/branding	10/10/2017 9:50 AM

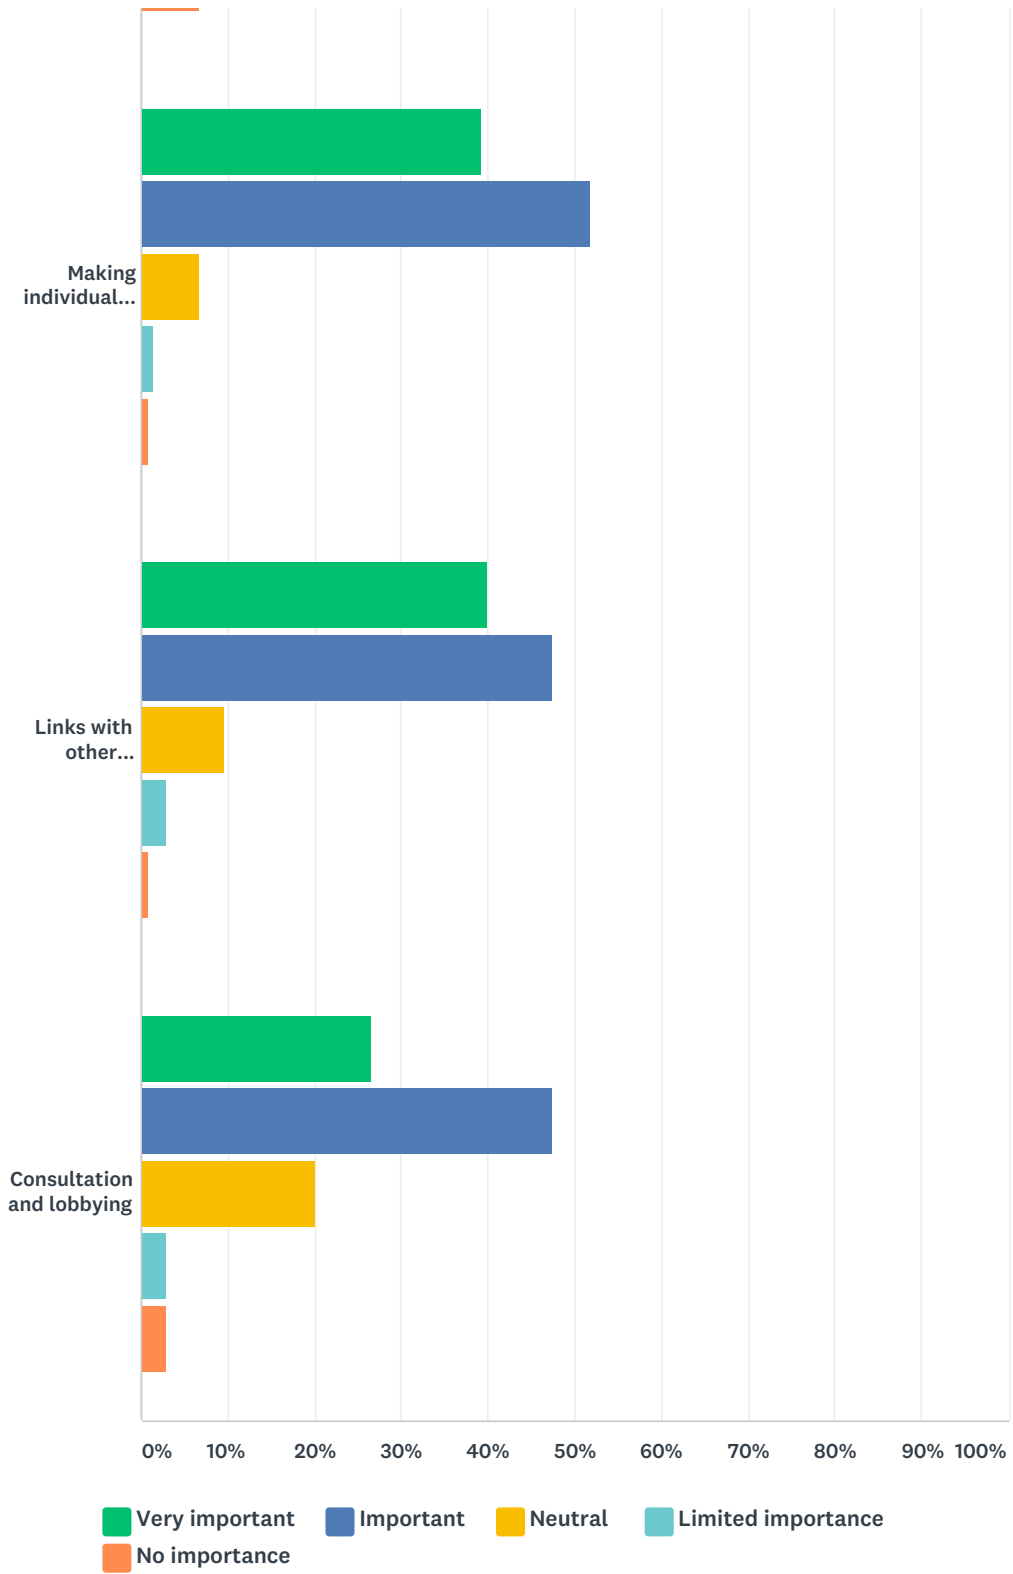

81	I would delete (d) above and place more emphasis on the educational opportunities that are offered by the successful training days run by some branches.	10/10/2017 9:36 AM
82	Expand network through increased membership per Local Authority rather than individual membership	10/10/2017 9:27 AM
83	I don't feel there is a need to make any changes to the ACES objectives	10/10/2017 9:24 AM
84	No changes but the constitution should be changed to include these objectives, not the existing old fashioned wordy ones.	10/10/2017 9:21 AM
85	none	10/10/2017 9:15 AM
86	Need to encourage greater participation from Public and Quasi Public bodies other than Local Authorities.	10/10/2017 9:11 AM
87	We need to be more Market focussed in what we do to improve value for money. This means assessing how effective frameworks really are, and how best to use those that we need to retain.	10/10/2017 9:11 AM
88	See my comment above	10/10/2017 9:05 AM
89	I think we should concentrate on the main aims I strongly agree with.	10/10/2017 9:04 AM
90	More focus on 'Client Side ' delivery	10/10/2017 9:03 AM
91	The issue of more estates functions being delivered by the private sector will need to be addressed in some way	10/10/2017 9:01 AM
92	None	10/10/2017 8:56 AM
93	All Ok	10/10/2017 8:52 AM

8	Back to answer to Q2. As key role of ACES is "peer to peer" links, forum, networking are key. National Council Meetings need to be better communicated to members.	10/13/2017 3:55 PM
9	-	10/12/2017 11:11 AM
10	National Council meetings are important in that there is a need for these to be held, but unimportant to the average member.	10/11/2017 4:43 PM
11	As a newly retired Member many of the above will from herein be of limited importance or relevance to me.	10/11/2017 1:58 PM
12	Website forum, news & adverts - need more participation to be effective. I notice that a lot of forum questions have very limited responses. This may be (kindly) because not many members can assist - & it only takes 1 lead sometimes to give sufficient help. But I'd like to see more vibrant participation.	10/11/2017 9:39 AM
13	At a branch level I always believed ACES provided a very useful service, particularly to authorities who only had one or two staff within their property team and therefore no one to turn to for advice and help. However it was on the national stage influencing government, the RICS and other bodies where much of it's best work was done and how the profile of the association and therefore it's members was raised	10/10/2017 8:01 PM
14	There is an aces 'in crowd' and much of the potential benefits do not accrue to ordinary members	10/10/2017 5:54 PM
15	ACES Working groups are Very Important	10/10/2017 2:31 PM
16	Have'nt really got to grips with the website	10/10/2017 11:11 AM
17	With regard to Consultation and lobbying I'm unsure what influence ACES has with say Government or RICS.	10/10/2017 11:05 AM

18	These answers have been given as if I was still working and an active ACES member.	10/10/2017 10:19 AM
19	Unfortunately the small numbers at branch meetings and the apathy of a significant proportion of these limits the benefit that can be derived from ACES and therefore the importance attached to it.	10/10/2017 9:36 AM
20	Members should be encouraged to make more use and share good practise on the website forum	10/10/2017 9:21 AM
21	The rural branch uses other for a to keep up to date and for jobs, lobbying etc. ACES's relevance would be improved by having better links with RICS, as this is our regulatory body. The National Conference, for understandable reasons, is not relevant to the Rural Branch	10/10/2017 9:11 AM
22	the level of responses to questions placed on the forum is disappointing	10/10/2017 9:05 AM

Q6 ACES operates efficiently through its website and printed output, but much of its work takes place in local meetings all over the country organised by its ten branches. Do you regularly attend and get involved in these meetings, so as to get the full benefits of ACES membership for yourself and the organisation you represent?

5	Insufficient working time to travel to meetings which generally necessitates a whole day out of the office.	10/23/2017 4:24 PM
6	There are a number of ACES members in the office and we are limited to attending one at a time.	10/23/2017 3:41 PM
7	Being retired I do not represent any organisation. I attend branch meetings only occasionally. The agenda is sometimes restricted and I note that no resumes of my branch meetings appear in The Terrier - perhaps an indication of the branch's effectiveness or alternatively lack of time members are able to devote to ACES matters.	10/23/2017 1:58 PM
8	As a retired member for 6 years now, I feel it is important for the new generation of officers to take the lead.	10/23/2017 11:18 AM
9	Branch meetings form little purpose however as activities are undertaken by same few members.	10/23/2017 9:37 AM
10	As retired I now have little relevant input	10/23/2017 9:26 AM
11	I have only joined recently, time is an issue. Discussing the constitutional aspects of Aces is not important to me. Some of the topics are a repeat of CIPFA courses.	10/23/2017 9:25 AM

12	The timing always seems to be wrong. Not ACES' fault, just bad luck.	10/23/2017 8:58 AM
13	Trying to attend more	10/23/2017 8:55 AM
14	occasional attendance	10/13/2017 5:01 PM
15	I attend National Council and other members of my team attend branch meetings (I do attend branch meetings but only occasionally - say once per year)	10/12/2017 5:26 PM
16	I have just joined ACES but plan to attend some of these meetings.	10/12/2017 11:11 AM
17	I am on the BEx and a former Chair of the NE Branch. I was instrumental in establishing the CPD nature of the meetings and this continues - because the members attend and like having cheap, high quality and rather jolly professional meetings	10/11/2017 4:43 PM
18	Until May of this year I missed very few London Branch meetings, dating back to January 1997. Now that I have retired I intend to attend the Branch AGM and the occasional Branch meeting: it's time the youngsters took over. But I still intend to support National Conferences and the ACES Annual Meeting.	10/11/2017 1:58 PM
19	- branch meetings are the 'life & blood' of ACES but somehow the national dimension needs to be seen as higher importance. There is perhaps somewhat of a disconnect between the branches and the national level.	10/11/2017 11:28 AM
20	Other commitments but this may change	10/10/2017 11:32 PM
21	as a retired member there is little relevance to me	10/10/2017 10:13 PM
22	As a retired member, I do not need the help ACES can provide, and as the whole working environment has changed significantly since I retired, it would be wrong to believe my views still are relevant.	10/10/2017 8:01 PM

27	We are concerned with identifying future trends, opportunities, income generation opportunities. When I have attended the discussions don't tend to progress these issues but instead focus on existing dilemmas, performance indicators etc.	10/10/2017 3:12 PM
28	As a retired member, my attendance is largely to meet up with old friends. My life has taken a new direction and sometimes other commitments prevent attendance.	10/10/2017 1:46 PM

49	At the recent presidential conference I was able to identify several potential initiatives to introduce to my employer or to stimulate change.	10/10/2017 8:07 PM
50	A great many outcomes turned out well for my employer as a consequence of information obtained from fellow ACES members, relationships developed with the private sector at ACES conferences and obtaining knowledge of their skills and expertise. How similar the outcomes would have been without ACES contacts is difficult to determine because I would obviously had to rely on other sources, but I am confident that ACES was very beneficial to my employer Basildon DC on many occasions and financial benefits considerable. Because of confidentiality issues and also in some instances perhapscausing offence to firms of consultants we didn't use, it would be difficult to site many of the examples. Perhaps a fairly simple example though would be saving several tens of thousands of pounds on rates of Leisure Centres and swimming pools in the 2000reval by joining a mass action through Wilkes, Head and Eaves	10/10/2017 8:01 PM

1	I have no difficulty with specific individuals being members provided that most of their work is public sector focused. What I would be cautious about would be is corporate members gaining an insight into public sector issues to gain commercial advantage.	10/26/2017 2:42 PM
2	not sure how you would restrict at G above- you would not be allowed to, with basically lots of private surveyors wanting to join in order to get the inside track. ACES just then becomes a trade lobby group for private firms seeking work in the public sector	10/24/2017 4:02 PM
3	ACES should primarily represent the public sector. I suggest that membership is allocated to relevant local authorities or other public bodies. They can then nominate either in house surveyors or external surveyors if all work has been outsourced. In that way the 'membership' could apply to the whole estates team and not just the 'chief' valuer. I would envisage private sector surveyors being nominated in this way as ones who largely manage the Council's whole property portfolio and do not generally work in the private sector. There have been applications from private sector surveyors who undertake a minor percentage of work for a large number of public authorities and I do not consider that to be appropriate for ACES membership.	10/24/2017 12:36 PM
4	If private membership is widened I will be resigning. ACES will no longer be representative of the ethos of its creation	10/24/2017 8:42 AM
6	This debate has been ongoing for years and the fear often voiced is that private sector organisations gain insight into how they can grow their fee income at the expense of public sector officers. Just as important is the need to retain and develop the skill base in the public sector to protect the public good and ensure a proper "Intelligent Client" role where services are contracted out. Hence my wish for a separate membership class for the private sector.	10/23/2017 1:58 PM
7	ACES is a Local Government body and that should remain the focus. Introducing private sector organisations, even when their main work is in the public sector should not detract from the role of the local government officers in providing high quality professional advice to their employers	10/23/2017 11:18 AM
8	In terms of ACES being about and for the public sector we must ensure we maintain membership, influence and involvement at levels reflecting that.	10/23/2017 10:15 AM
9	Any controls should be over the agendas [prevent them being hi-jacked] rather than numbers of private surveyors attending	10/23/2017 9:49 AM
10	If private sector join I will resign my membership and withdraw support for other member currently sponsored by my Council and no longer seek to participate in any activities of ACES as it would no longer be relevant to Local Government very quickly, it will simply be used for the promotion of the private sector just like the RICS which would be a travesty for our association.	10/23/2017 9:37 AM

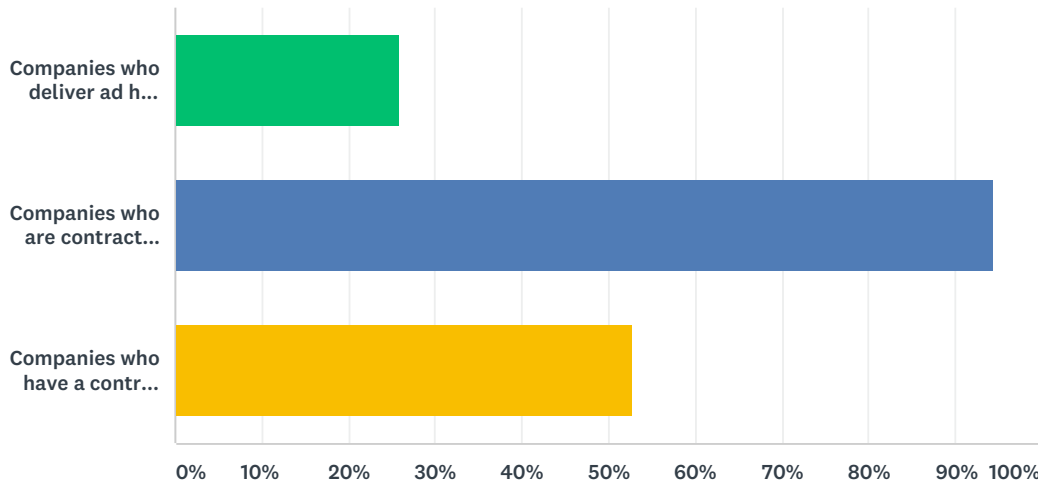

11	The private sector has a completely different approach is almost exclusively fee driven in my experience and would be hugely detrimental to the existing arrangements and nullify the ethos and benefits ACES presently brings	10/23/2017 9:33 AM
12	It is harder to discuss certain public sector issues when private sector colleagues are present.	10/23/2017 9:25 AM
13	This to be (as Head of Property of a large CC) is the most important change that needs to be made. We need to accept that much property work (transactional and strategic) is undertaken by the private sector (or semi-privatised parts of the public sector - i.e. Concertos / NPS). They have the detailed knowledge and we cannot ignore their voice	10/23/2017 9:00 AM
14	Attend COD part of meetings not the rest	10/23/2017 8:55 AM
15	Private sector already have plenty of organisations representing their interests - yes to private sector involvement where involved in public sector partnership working.	10/13/2017 5:01 PM
16	As an organisation primarily for public sector members to communicate and exchange information with their peers restrictions must necessarily be placed on those whose work for and interest in the public sector is not full time.	10/13/2017 3:55 PM
17	Private members only working to a public sector body to allow contracted out LA's to attend. Any private work means commercial and in my opinion would be detriment to ACES and their members	10/13/2017 11:38 AM
18	I am not sure what is meant by "private sector corporate member". I would only be happy for private sector to have voting rights if they work predominantly for the private sector or provide exclusively the service for a public sector organisation	10/12/2017 5:26 PM
19	I think that there is much that ACES members can learn from private sector colleagues.	10/12/2017 1:23 PM
20	The reason that I am a member is because ACES focuses on Local Authority issues. The way that Branch meetings are structured means that we have CPD on relevant subjects to our industry. I am concerned that if membership is opened up then the focus will change. I find that other courses/events that I attend local authority surveyors are in the minority and therefore the focus is on the private sector, we can learn from the private sector however whatever the future holds then the focus on issues in the public sector should remain and not lost in order to attract more members.	10/12/2017 12:20 PM
21	Private sector involvement maybe useful but importantly ACES should maintain its focus as a public sector association. That is it USP for members that join.	10/12/2017 11:11 AM
22	Can see merit in wider involvement but base must still be the public sector perspective	10/12/2017 7:11 AM
23	Dear me, where has this come from? The private sector is very anxious to get ever closer to the public sector. However, we should help ourselves, and them, by avoiding possible accusations of inappropriate lobbying to get contracts, and this could be perceived as crossing the line. To go down this route would be to form a new version of the RICS - and one is quite enough. Besides, members value the chance to talk to other public sector colleagues openly on a range of subjects including early ideas that could form the basis of later contractual negotiations. If you were to adopt this approach it would be a matter of conjecture as to what ACES would then stand for. And would members continue to operate as volunteers, often providing free accommodation, to further the objectives of business? well, I wouldn't, unless I was paid. I think you can lose the thing that is worth keeping.	10/11/2017 4:43 PM
24	We are all working in the same environment whether in private or public sector organisations. As long as the private companies are predominantly providing services to public sector clients, I don't see where the issue is. In my experience the importance of property in public sector organisations has diminished over time and we need to collectively do all we can to raise the profile	10/11/2017 4:10 PM
25	In regard to g above I would suggest an initial ratio of no less than 60:40 in favour of public sector members	10/11/2017 12:18 PM
26	I do not think many private sector companies or individuals will want to join, so probably will not apply. But, certainly no more than 49%	10/11/2017 9:39 AM
27	Private sector is not for ACES	10/10/2017 10:59 PM
28	It is important that the public sector character of ACES remains, ie that it focuses upon and helps to develop public sector property management. Private sector consultants have much to offer and ACES would be the poorer if private sector surveyors committed to serving the public sector were excluded. However, membership should be restricted to private sector individuals with a demonstrable track record/client base with the public sector.	10/10/2017 8:07 PM

29	Ever since I first became a member of Council back in 2000, the dividing lines between public sector and private sector have been very blurred, eg NPS, major organisations such as those who took over the running of Glasgow, Birmingham and many others and also senior members of ACES who upon retirement formed consultancies working for and in the public sector, but retaining membership of ACES. The private sector therefore already has a strong foothold in ACES. Where , until now it has resisted extending membership is employees of national firms, e Wilkes, Head and Eaves, Carter Jonas,LSH who do much of ECC's work, knight Frank etc. I have always felt there should be a place in the Association for some of the people within these firms as they can greatly advance ACES image and prestige, but equally it must always remain our association and therefore issues around what powers they should have will constantly need to be kept under review	10/10/2017 8:01 PM
30	The unique benefit of ACES is the non-commercial environment to discuss public sector matters. Different to the RICS etc	10/10/2017 7:38 PM
31	It is important that those who serve the public sector are involved in aces whether they be private or public sector employees	10/10/2017 5:54 PM
32	I fundamentally disagree with the private sector joining this organisation unless they are a not for profit or in a JV/partnership model with a public sector organisation. This is not about the private sector being afforded another opportunity to sell their services - instead we should be concentrating on enhancing and developing our own skill sets. We have limited opportunity to meet as a public sector professionals why dilute that further.	10/10/2017 3:12 PM
33	Membership and meeting attendance must be confined to those within a firm primarily engaged in working for public sector bodies.	10/10/2017 3:09 PM
34	I do not see any benefit in private sector membership and attendance at Branch Meetings. It would most likely restrict debate and curtail the openness that exists in discussing issues and future strategy.	10/10/2017 2:31 PM
35	While I can see some scope for allowing the private sector to join ACES, I have concerns about this diluting what ACES is supposed to be about public sector employees getting together and supporting each other with their knowledge and experience. I am not sure allowing private surveyors, who may very well be undertaking work for the public sector as bringing any great benefit. Will they just tout for business, or look at opportunities for further outsourcing.	10/10/2017 1:47 PM
36	In my view the objectives of the public and private sectors are becoming closer, so ACES ought to broaden its membership. Is there a level of seniority that ACES aspire to within its membership? If this is drawn too tightly, then membership/ attendance numbers will be low. For me there is a lack of clarity on this point, and potential attendees are unsure if they ought to attend.	10/10/2017 11:20 AM
37	I would support private sector being involved, not as Members but on an as and when basis where there would be benefit to us/their sector. Full Membership I feel would be a step too far at this stage	10/10/2017 11:20 AM
38	g would be unworkable. It is not easy, but the criteria of members being predominantly employed on local authority contracts would seem the optimum.	10/10/2017 11:11 AM
39	Initially my main concerns over a joint private/public sector membership would be that of impartiality particularly around future contracts and procurement but I would need to understand the relationship more to be confident that the private sector didn't see this as an opening into obtaining public sector work.	10/10/2017 10:55 AM
40	ACES should retain its focus on Public Sector estates management and not try and be the RICS	10/10/2017 10:52 AM
41	I think any individual or firm should really only be involved with local authority (etc) work, if they are to become an ACES member, otherwise there might either be conflict or a distillation of the impact of their membership. i.e. commitment to the cause!	10/10/2017 10:46 AM
42	I think it will be important to ensure private sector members are wholly or substantially engaged in the management of the public sector estate.	10/10/2017 10:19 AM

43	The focus needs to be on Corporate Estate Management of (Local Government) Public Sector Assets. Membership should be for individuals who are predominantly engaged in this work regardless of who they work for. For me the question arises what about other sectors within public service, health, central government etc. and possibly even wider utilities, railways & transport etc. Despite the very pressing need for inter-public sector communication and working (OPE etc) I would be reluctant to see all these invited in to ACES per se as I think the essential essence of LG asset management would be lost., however, ACES might be able to ally itself with similar organisations or even have one organisations with different divisions for each specialism.	10/10/2017 9:53 AM
44	ACES has to move with the times. With fewer in-house surveyors/property managers ACES will die if it restricts its membership. Allow those providing services to the public sector to be ACES members.	10/10/2017 9:36 AM
45	Members join as individuals to represent their organisation. This should be the same with the private sector.	10/10/2017 9:21 AM
46	If you expand the Membership, expand the membership. Do not create separate classes. Either people are Members or they are not.	10/10/2017 9:11 AM
47	By far the greatest benefit of ACES membership is being able to discuss matters of mutual importance in an open and frank manner with colleagues in a similar position. This would undoubtedly be lost if private sector parties were in attendance. I have spent most of my career in the private sector and would not enter into discussions as I currently do at branch meetings if private sector parties were in attendance. In my view, if private sector membership in any form was introduced ACES would lose its primary purpose. I would resign my membership.	10/10/2017 9:04 AM
48	This is a tricky one. Whilst on the one hand public sector estates functions are now undertaken by private companies they do have their own networks. Equally there is a danger that they will be touting for other business (have the inside track when it comes to tendering for works etc) and other surveying firms will feel they are missing out by not having a seat at the table.	10/10/2017 9:01 AM
49	Who ever pays the piper calls the tune and ACES needs to retain some element of independence from fee orientated private sector agents.	10/10/2017 9:01 AM
50	Should continue to be led by public sector but private input always helpful	10/10/2017 8:59 AM
51	There has been a recent post on the ACES forum for assistance which has been picked up by a 'not for profit company' offering its services . This has happened to me before when I want help not a sales pitch.	10/10/2017 8:56 AM

1	All of the above	10/25/2017 5:07 PM
2	I would only allow CIC companies to join	10/24/2017 4:02 PM
3	See box at 8 above	10/24/2017 12:36 PM
4	n.a.	10/23/2017 11:32 PM
5	The ACES role is wider than delivery of ad hoc or partial delivery.	10/23/2017 1:58 PM
6	the difficulty is ensuring that those private companies are members to promote knowledge and understanding rather than to solely to secure work instructions etc.	10/23/2017 9:49 AM
7	I am totally opposed to any private sector membership, writing articles for the terrier attending conferences is one thing, membership is another. We would be no different from the RICS if this was the case.	10/23/2017 9:37 AM
8	Lets not over complicate things	10/23/2017 9:00 AM
9	I have reservations about out sourcing and privatisation of public sector - the risk is that private companies who work for one LA client may use ACES to expand their client base.	10/13/2017 5:01 PM
10	If part of a property function for a public sector body to restrict their involvement purely to that function	10/13/2017 3:55 PM
11	By allowing ad hoc or partial service delivers to join from the private sector effectively allows anyone to join with all of the conflict of interest issues that that raises	10/12/2017 5:26 PM

12	There should be a separate membership category for private sector, in whatever category	10/12/2017 3:02 PM
13	I wouldn't want any of these to be the basis of Aces membership. It's bad enough when they try to insinuate themselves into the organisation - they're not doing it through any sense of altruism, and have other opportunities to express themselves such as through the RICS (which is already dominated by the private sector, and why Aces provides the service that arguably the RICS should, but does not). This is not the way to go!	10/11/2017 4:43 PM
14	Only those who are delivering the majority of the function should be allowed effectively as a replacement for what would have been representation for an in-house team. That way the frontline expertise corresponding to the public sector body would be represented for its benefit or for others' benefit. Public sector bodies that only outsource part of their estates function should not require the duplication of their consultants.	10/11/2017 3:31 PM
15	Not applicable	10/11/2017 1:21 PM
16	The private sector is an integral part of delivering public sector property services i.e. a mixed economy of service delivery is now common place in the public sector.	10/11/2017 11:28 AM
17	I would value input in all categories	10/11/2017 9:39 AM
18	None of them	10/10/2017 10:59 PM
19	not applicable	10/10/2017 10:13 PM
20	Not in favour of company membership of ACES. As individuals would only allow if contracted to deliver majority of estates functions	10/10/2017 9:30 PM
21	For reasons stated below I would not be in favour of private company membership	10/10/2017 8:07 PM
22	But only those employees who existing public sector members can vouch for , and even then membership needs to be kept under review should their role within their firm change	10/10/2017 8:01 PM
23	Only wholly engaged in public sector work eg NHS and DVS	10/10/2017 7:38 PM
24	the employees need to be primarily engaged in public sector work	10/10/2017 5:54 PM
25	Beware of being taken over by private sector consultancies - see SCALA example	10/10/2017 5:29 PM
26	I was neutral	10/10/2017 1:47 PM
27	I would support all of the above on an ad hoc basis where there was evident benefit	10/10/2017 11:20 AM
28	Qualified approval to option 3, it must be materially significant	10/10/2017 11:11 AM
29	I think membership should be focussed either on individuals or local authorities - in the case of the latter a LA could nominate one or more private individuals who do the property work for them so if they contract out estates work they nominate individuals who are actually doing the work for them.	10/10/2017 9:53 AM
30	The private sector member must be a person who is solely involved in serving the private sector. In other words he is a public sector estate surveyor who just happens to work in the private sector.	10/10/2017 9:21 AM
31	I would also include quasi public bodies - Crown Estate and National Trust	10/10/2017 9:11 AM

7	The company will inevitably have wider, commercial, interests which it may seek to exploit through Membership.	10/13/2017 3:55 PM
8	Individual membership has always made it difficult for some to get their fee paid	10/12/2017 5:26 PM

10	It is the personal relationship that I believe is important.	10/12/2017 1:23 PM
11	This question is wrongly phrased with the incorrect boxes to tick since to place a check into either box makes explicit that you agree that the private sector should have any form of membership, and with which I feel to be quite wrong.	10/11/2017 4:43 PM
12	Membership of public sector is made at the named individual level in any event.	10/11/2017 3:31 PM

16	Keeping it at the individual level will enable the development of relationships between members and ensure that those private sector surveyors involved in ACES activities are those who are genuinely committed to the public sector.	10/10/2017 8:07 PM
17	I know ACES membership has widened considerably since I retired, and as a consequence a number of relatively junior members of staff are now ACES members. However I believe ACES involvement by government on key issues is dependant on it being an association reflecting the views of the senior and principal property officers	10/10/2017 8:01 PM
18	I'm not sure what is being asked without referring back. Private sector companies where employees are primarily engaged in public sector work should be able to enjoy corporate membership Individuals who are former members of ACES should retain membership	10/10/2017 5:54 PM
19	See above	10/10/2017 5:29 PM
20	Essential that we retain individual membership criterion.	10/10/2017 3:09 PM

22	By extending to a company, it would be easier to collect fees. Also within a company there could be more flexibility as to which individual attends. This could mean someone from the company attends most meetings, rather than risk a high level of absentees. So say a company could purchase 3 ACES tickets each year, and send a variety of surveyors up to the max of 3 per meeting.	10/10/2017 11:20 AM
23	I have only recently appreciated (after 15+ years plus membership!) that I am the member and not the District Council I work for. I've always worked on basis that I represent my authority at ACES Branch meetings and i share access to ACES website.	10/10/2017 11:05 AM
24	There is a worry that if its a corporate membership it could be used as a marketing opportunity with little positive impact for ACES so I would suggest the individual as a first step	10/10/2017 9:36 AM

31	Where on earth has all this come from? This stream of questions assumes that the private sector will inevitably become members of Aces and that Aces volunteers will continue to support... the private sector's interests? This is quite unrealistic... I worked 18 hours at the national conference and, trust me, I have no intention of doing this if the ultimate outcome is an increase in Partners' remuneration and longer skiing holidays. 46	Membership of ACES has always required members not to do anything to the detriment of the Association and to always promote what it is for. I believe there are a number of private sector employees who have been doing precisely that for years and if they desire member. However I do not believe it is something which should be on offer to a private sector employee just because, for a moment in time he or she is undertaking some work on behalf of a public sector organisation. Get the criteria right and there shouldn't be a situation where quotas have to be put in place, unless of course we revert to the Thatcher era when the public sector is merely a procuremnt agent	10/10/2017 8:01 PM

Q12 Please suggest any ways you consider ACES could be improved as a members' association in order to better achieve its objectives:

Answered: 81 Skipped: 56

#	RESPONSES	DATE
1	Raise ACES and property's profile with senior public service managers. Promotion of more branch level CPD activities at reasonable cost. branch level.	10/26/2017 2:42 PM
2	Better website and more CPD, especially at branch level.	10/25/2017 10:47 PM
3	Better promotion throughout	10/25/2017 5:07 PM
4	It should work more closely with CIPFA Property- needs to think v seriously about how IT is going to affect how property service functions are provided	10/24/2017 4:02 PM
5	I think ACES should represent all public sector surveyors who wish to be members - not just 'Chief' estates surveyors	10/24/2017 12:36 PM
6	I am out of touch with the professional requirements for members it would inappropriate to comment	10/23/2017 11:32 PM
7	Conferences need to be themed on specific topics rather than a broad area, this is the role of the branches. The profile of the President could be improved in national issues and articles developed for the press, in addition to the Terrier	10/23/2017 4:23 PM
8	More sharing of best practice across all branches.	10/23/2017 1:58 PM
9	Increase number of conferences and CPD events as well as matters suggested in Q4. The success of Leeds shows that two day conferences are still very much viable and I personally always felt it was a mistake to have dropped the Spring Conferences. However we need to recognise that all these things require a great deal of work and time to organise successfully and we should keep looking for a solution which will transfer much of that load away from members, even if we have to pay for it. There must be somebody out there who would do this on a part time basis. Alternatively and again it's just a personal view, the 3Fox model would be worth revisiting to see if it could be made to work for us.	10/23/2017 10:15 AM
10	geographical spread makes it difficult [time consuming] for some meeting attendances, a re-working of branches may be helpful.	10/23/2017 9:49 AM
11	Focus on our core of supporting local government property surveying professionals as no one else does.	10/23/2017 9:37 AM
12	Retaining the existing public sector ethos and public good focus. This includes reality and commercialism. However a purely fee based private sector approach is contrary to this and incompatible.	10/23/2017 9:33 AM
13	More information to elected council members	10/23/2017 9:26 AM
14	Less constitutional matters. I'm not even sure what voting is for. The forum is very useful. Not many people rely to questions but when you have a similar question to one that has already been listed at least you have a contact in the person who posted the original question.	10/23/2017 9:25 AM
15	By forging stronger links with Government bodies and departments to ensure the continuity of the Estates function and preventing this role from being transferred to unqualified staff.	10/23/2017 9:23 AM
16	More online content	10/23/2017 9:00 AM
17	Promote itself and encourage younger members of the profession	10/23/2017 8:59 AM
18	None	10/23/2017 8:58 AM
19	Raising profile with CEO	10/23/2017 8:55 AM
20	Increased younger membership	10/23/2017 8:55 AM
21	Tend to promote ACES to those providing professional services. ACES members also run large building contracts etc and we should bring this sector into the fold as well - procurement.	10/17/2017 2:29 PM

22	Reduce the level of branch fees and consider whether a closer link to other similar bodies can be achieved e.g RICS	10/16/2017 11:25 AM
23	Better use of social media such as LinkedIn, Twitter etc.	10/13/2017 5:01 PM
24	Re branding" Association of Surveyors in the Public Sector" or similar	10/13/2017 3:55 PM
25	none	10/13/2017 11:38 AM
26	Local authorities should be under greater encouragement for senior staff to be members of ACES, which should publish some focused guidance on key issues, in conjunction with RICS	10/12/2017 3:02 PM
27	I agree that it needs to change and evolve as an organisation. It could provide specific briefing notes to its members on key government initiatives when they are announced in order to raise awareness.	10/12/2017 1:23 PM
28	Perhaps have a "Lite" membership for colleagues in the public sector that are perhaps not estate surveyors eg solicitors who deal with property transactions	10/12/2017 12:20 PM
29	None	10/12/2017 7:11 AM
30	This must be the poorest set of questions formulated to be sent out to the members. Whilst it may have been done with good intentions, presumably, this is an excellent way to stifle interest and achieve the opposite of the question, to ensure the Objectives are not met.	10/11/2017 4:43 PM
31	Focus on shared best practice through CPD	10/11/2017 4:10 PM
32	Promote at Chief Officer level	10/11/2017 1:21 PM
33	Aces should have a stronger representation at RICS	10/11/2017 12:18 PM
34	- modernise - make the national level more relevant to all ACES members - better marketing of the ACES brand - better use of modern technology	10/11/2017 11:28 AM
35	Somehow encourage membership by more public sector bodies, so it is more vibrant, rather than relying on a few hard-working individuals. However, attendance at ACES National Conference showed that the enthusiasm is there, if properly tapped	10/11/2017 9:39 AM
36	More representation at regional national level e.g within combined Authorities, One Public Estate, LGA	10/11/2017 8:13 AM
37	Stronger links with other professional bodies to improve recognition and knowledge of ACES	10/11/2017 6:47 AM
38	Better dissemination of current issues, professional news items	10/10/2017 11:32 PM
39	this is an issue for active members	10/10/2017 10:13 PM
40	Improved communication through the web site	10/10/2017 9:30 PM
41	Retired members make a very valuable contribution to ACES. However, I am concerned that this could be a mixed blessing if ACES were to be over-dependent upon their contributions, as this could hinder appropriate organisational change and development.	10/10/2017 8:07 PM
42	Keep up to date with use of technology to spread the word including social media and make the website more modern and accessible	10/10/2017 8:05 PM
43	After 6.5 years of retirement I am too distant from what is happening now to comment	10/10/2017 8:01 PM
44	N/a	10/10/2017 5:54 PM
45	Now retired	10/10/2017 5:29 PM
46	None	10/10/2017 5:22 PM
47	Offer on line/video training - e.g. some conference talks and some sponsors	10/10/2017 4:43 PM
48	It would be helpful if we could identify market trends, economic changes e.g City Deals, legislative changes etc and perhaps host themed meetings. It would also be worth adopting a Skype approach to meetings so that those who cannot afford a whole day travelling back and forth can Skype into the meeting and still contribute.	10/10/2017 3:12 PM
49	Reinvigoration of the Rural Branch.	10/10/2017 3:09 PM

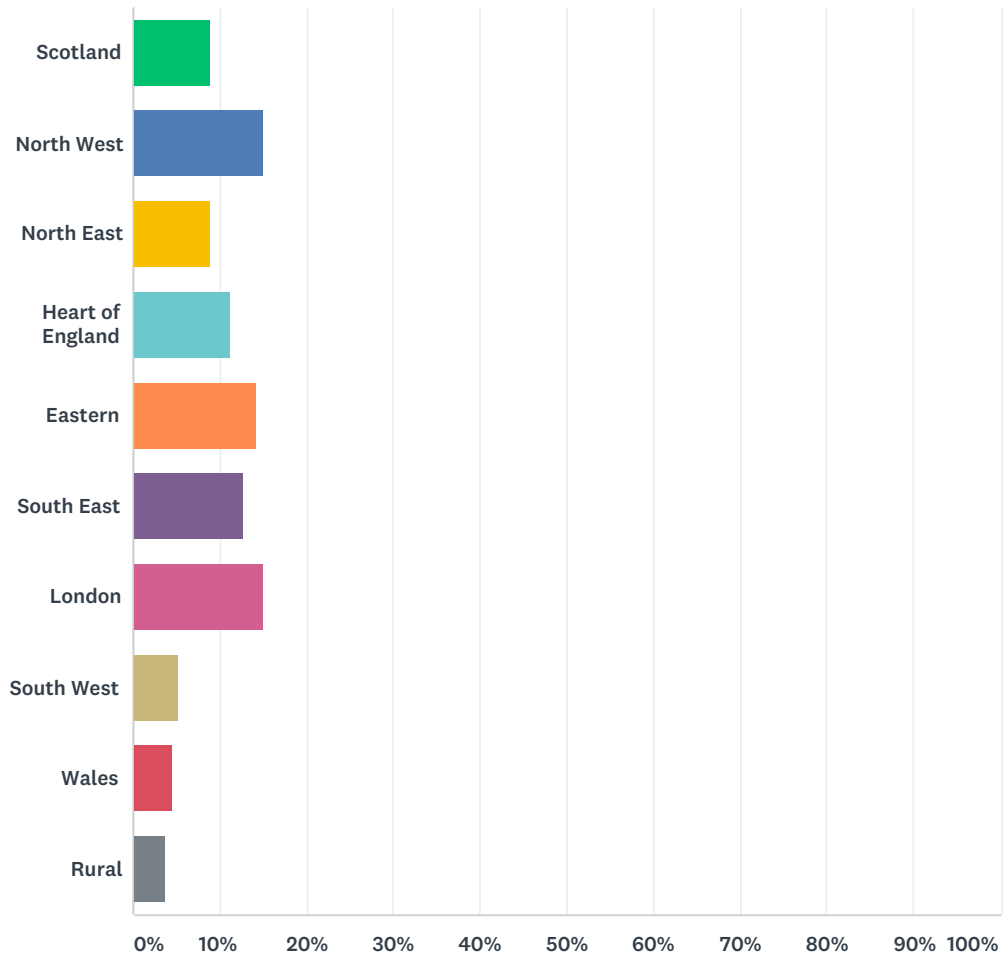

50	Develop an lsurv type add on to the ACES website where examples of best practice can be located for members e.g. valuation examples for commercial, agricultural, residential transactions, lease renewals, rent reviews, commonhold enfranchisement. Standard forms for providing rent review expert witness submissions to ensure consistency and high professional standards. Work with the DV to allow access to comparables to ensure best possible information in dealing with cases.	10/10/2017 2:47 PM
51	Online forum and document store for working groups that can be accessed by non ACES members who attend working groups.	10/10/2017 2:31 PM
52	It has always been a battle to gain acknowledgement of our contribution amongst our public sector employers. We must continue to push against this door.	10/10/2017 1:46 PM
53	wider access to those working in the property sector across the public sector. Perhaps ties to the Government Property Profession	10/10/2017 1:18 PM
54	Allow more member to be drawn from existing public sector to broaden appeal and bolster attendances at branch meetings etc.	10/10/2017 12:25 PM
55	More emphasis on the identification, assessment and dissemination of effective practice More opportunity for structured problem solving	10/10/2017 12:14 PM
56	Encourage a wider representation of authorities. Perhaps giving discounts to new members	10/10/2017 12:04 PM
57	Membership is getting increasingly older. Need to find ways of encouraging younger members. Encourage the "Chiefs" to bring along a younger surveyor to meetings.	10/10/2017 11:33 AM
58	Is there overlap between what GPU is doing and ACES?	10/10/2017 11:21 AM
59	Web network for ongoing questions and answers. A copy of the membership list available on line. These could be run on a National basis.	10/10/2017 11:20 AM
60	Different accessibility formats to increase attendance - video conferencing/con calls etc	10/10/2017 11:20 AM
61	Change name Company/authority membership rather than individual	10/10/2017 11:05 AM
62	Focus on its objectives as a Public Sector body. It is never going to achieve its objective of being the most important body in providing advice.	10/10/2017 10:52 AM
63	I think it is for members who attend branch meetings to better assimilate the knowledge learnt through to other officers, so there is more feeling of inclusion of ACES throughout the Authority. Possibly there should be LA membership rather than individual membership (with one lead member) so that other Team members might attend branch meetings without feeling like being cover, and are attending in their own right.	10/10/2017 10:46 AM
64	North West branch is thriving, but others seem to struggle for membership therefore need to broaden the membership to a reasonable extent.	10/10/2017 10:24 AM
65	n/a	10/10/2017 10:21 AM
66	As a retired member I believe that current active members should respond to this question	10/10/2017 9:50 AM
67	Branch Meetings in locations accessible to all Members - i.e. central belt in Scotland	10/10/2017 9:45 AM
68	ACES needs to be reinvigorated and opening up membership will hopefully achieve this by increasing numbers, knowledge and bringing new ideas	10/10/2017 9:36 AM
69	d	10/10/2017 9:30 AM
70	Membership could be opened to younger more junior members of staff.	10/10/2017 9:24 AM
71	Following this survey and review it needs to be rebranded and promoted across the public and private sector that supports public sector estate management with the main focus being in the benefits of membership quantified in terms of tone quality and cost benefits. Allowing private sector surveyors to join would strengthen the branch membership, attendance at branch meetings and achieve a much wider debate on issues to the benefit of the public sector. The private sector have attended the conferences for many years which has been beneficial.	10/10/2017 9:21 AM
72	From my early experiences of ACES I think my branch is very active and makes meetings interesting. Our chair is very enthusiastic and encouraging and the inclusion of CPD at each meeting makes the event better and encourages higher attendance. Meetings could possibly be extended to a full day event wit more CPD given the distance some people have to travel.	10/10/2017 9:15 AM
73	Comments made previously	10/10/2017 9:11 AM

74	Keep reminding individual Members that if they can't attend meetings to delegate someone else to come	10/10/2017 9:05 AM
75	Promotion of forum and Benchmarking of both operational and non operational property data within branches.	10/10/2017 9:04 AM
76	Remember why ACES exists	10/10/2017 9:04 AM
77	Increase in membership and involvement in Branch events	10/10/2017 9:03 AM
78	More CPD	10/10/2017 8:56 AM
79	Larger CPD evens - not just for heads of service but all estates surveyors	10/10/2017 8:54 AM
80	keep on doing what you are doing	10/10/2017 8:52 AM
81	Should lobby local authority members to ensure that the use of public assets are dealt with in a professional way and in accordance with RICS's values	10/10/2017 8:50 AM
